Mobile man dies in crash

By BRENT MACEY

The pilot of a glider airplane was killed Sunday about noon when his plane crashed into the woods approximately one-half mile north of Stennis International Airport.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said witnesses saw the glider, owned and operated by Henry R. Smith, 49, of Mobile, go into a nose dive and crash into a wooded area north of the airport.

"We feel his wife was one of the witnesses," Peterson said.

He said Smith was taking a pleasure ride in the craft when the accident occurred.

He added Mrs. Smith had flown the glider Saturday and 'had no problems with the plane.'

Andy Ewing, fixed base operator at the airport, said lack of any damage to trees in the area indicates the plane crashed almost straight down.

Peterson said deputies Nathan Hoda and James Necaise, who were patroling in the vicinity arrived at the scene a few minutes after the accident.

Justice Court Judge John Chevis ruled the subject dead at the scene, Peterson said.

Other units arriving on the scene include Diamondhead Fire Rescue Unit, Kiln and Waveland Fire Departments, and the State Highway Patrol.

The Federal Aviation Administration is currently conducting an investigation of the accident, he stated.

Charles Carrier, chief of the FAA general aviation district office in Jackson, said a study conducted Monday by his department and the National Transportation Safety Board in Atlanta, revealed 'no discrepencies in the glider system.'

He added, "There is nothing wrong with the system which cannot be related to the impact damage."

He said the Safety board in Jackson will continue the investigation and incorporate weather conditions at the time of the accident along with an autopsy in the final report.

Carrier said that report normally takes 90 days depending on the backlog of accidents to be investigated.

Hancock may be named defendant in land suit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County could be named as a defendant in a land dispute suit.

Hancock County School District 16th Section Land Manager Terry Randolph informed the school board at a Saturday morning meeting he received a letter from Attorney Robert Genin of Bay St. Louis asking a quit claim on land leased by the county to an individual.

Genin represents Jimmy Woods who leases property from the school district near the Flat Top Community.

Genin states in the letter that the land apparently does not belong to the school district.

Randolph Wednesday afternoon said some 40 acres of land in Section 24, Township 6, Range 16 near Flat Top is lieu land formerly owned by Holmes County.

The land was patented in the early 1940's to Lester Kilgore, but he has never paid any taxes on the acreage and the man's whereabouts is unknown.

Ironically, the land is adjacent to property now held by the Picayune Municipal Separate School District.

The Hancock board is attempting to reclaim title to that property which it once held.

The board may sue the Picayune district to return some 60 square miles of property owned by the municipal district in northwest Hancock County.

The 40 acres has been leased by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for over 30 years.

Randolph noted, "When the school district began managing the 16th Section and lieu lands I discovered the land patented to Kilgore."

"Kilgore never did pay any taxes on the land and a tax sale was never conducted," Randolph said.

Randolph reported the land could not be auctioned in a tax sale due to 16th Section and lieu land laws.

"For some reason the Hancock School District thought it was lieu lands in a 'nonexistant section,' " the land manager stated.

"I approached the supervisors two years ago when I discovered this and they said they owned the land," he reported.

Randolph said the Hancock School District didn't collect lease money from some 10 leasees in the 40-acre area last year due to the questionable ownership of the property.

The land manager said he, Board Attorney Gerald Gex, former Board Attorney Walter Phillips and the State Attorney General ran a title search which confirmed Kilgore's ownership.

Randolph added, "Hancock County could have claim on the land since

Waveland board adopts fine metals ordinance

By BRENT MACEY

The Waveland Board of Alderman recently adopted ordinances establishing rules and regulations for buyers and sellers of gold and silver.

The ordinance, prepared by board attorney Lucien Gex, 'is the same used by everybody on the coast,' Gex said.

The ordinance requires the buyer to obtain a $25 license.

A sworn application in writing in duplicate must also be filed with the chief of police.

That form must include a photograph of the applicant, finger prints, expected duration of business operation, along with two names of reliable property owners certifying the applicant's good character and business respectability.

Investigation by the police into the 'business and moral character' of the buyer may be made by the police chief 'as he deems necessary for the public good.'

All articles bought must be described, including the date and hour of purchase, a description of the seller including that person's address, social security number, driver's license, and date and place of birth.

All information must be delivered to the chief of police every day except Sunday before 10 a.m.

All property must be marked with an identification card and must not be melted down for a period of five days.

A fine of $500 or imprisonment of not more than six months will be levied upon any person not complying with the ordinace.

Also during the 7:30 p.m. regular meeting Jan. 21 at City Hall, the board heard from Clarence Harris, president of the local branch of NAACP, concerning homes in the Middletown area.

Harris asked the board what will happen to a woman living in the area whose house cannot be rehabilitated because portions are 'beyond repair.'

He informed the board that house is 'unlivable' in parts and asked if the woman could be guaranteed rehabilitation of parts of her home if she decided upon temporary relocation.

He said she would not relocate permanently.

Mayor Longo said the board is aware of certain problems still remaining in the area and that Housing and Urban Developement's Waveland manager Harold Zimmerman is working on the problem.

Harris also informed the board $546,000 is available to low income people in Hancock and Harrison Counties through the Gulf Coast Action Agency.

The money is allocated by the government to help pay costs for energy needs Harris said.

'I would like people in Hancock County to be made aware of the money so that Hancock County gets its fair share," he said.

In other business, the board;

—Took under advisement all bids for the city for the 1981 year until needed.

—Authorized a total of $59,153 payments to R&T Company of Greenland, including payments three, four and a change order, for work on Middletown park.

—Approved a $197 sale of land back to L.F. Alvarez.

—Approved a $2,143 payment to R&C Engineers for a study, field work, and installation of cathodic protection anodes to the city gas lines.

—Kept bids for rehabilitation of two homes in the Middletown area under advisement.

—Discussed increasing the speed limit on Nicholson Avenue from 25 to 35 miles per hour. Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn will be asked to give his recommendation to the board at their next meeting slated Feb. 3.

Veteran Bay policeman swaps badge for bicycle

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Alvin Favre, retired Bay St. Louis policeman, was recently honored with a certificate of appreciation from Mayor Larry Bennett and a plaque in appreciation of service from Bay Chief of Police Douglas Williams and staff.

Favre joined the police department in 1965 after having been an employee of the city's street department since 1954.

He and his wife reside on St. John Street, Bay St. Louis, and have three daughters and two grandsons.

Favre retired at the age of 62 and said, "If my health would have been better, I would have liked to have worked at least until age 65."

One of the retired policeman's experiences which he will never forget occurred in 1975 when a vehicle ran through the school zone threatening three young girls crossing US-90.

Favre remembers, "Officer Harris Bourdreaux and I were directing the students to North Bay Elementary at the highway and Dunbar. There was a green light for Dunbar's traffic and two vehicles on 90 had stopped."

"Boudreaux was watching the other side of the highway and I walked to the center of the highway on my side to cross the three girls. From out of nowhere this car came and I snatched one girl and kept her from getting struck. Boudreaux later told me he thought I had been struck by the car because I was so close. The two other little girls were hurled about 50 feet through the air.

"Luckily there were some members of the military on the scene who rendered first aid to the injured until Mobile Medic arrived. I thought the kids both were dead.

"I had just lost a grandson a year before in an accideent and I was so mad at the drunken driver who caused this accident I wanted to jerk him out of his car," Favre allowed.

One of Favre's jobs was the crossing at US-90 and Dunbar for his entire time as a policeman.

He said there were many minor incidents at the crossing, but the time the two girls were struck by the driver who did not stop was the worse.

Favre reported, "I enjoyed every minute of my 26 years as a city employee. I liked the people I worked for and with."

The Bay native is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Victor Favre of Bay St. Louis.

"Many people think all a policeman does is ride around in the police car. If they only knew the different things we do. I have done everything but deliver a baby," Favre recalls.

"As police we even get calls to go out and help old people who do not want to take their medicine. I have sat by the side of the bed of many a person coaxing them into taking medication," the retired officer stated.

Favre attended a lot of schools and said, "The police department in Bay St. Louis has come a long way. Better equipment such as communications, better trained police and more police. I spent many an hour in classrooms from a couple of hours at one time to two weeks at a stretch. We were always refreshing our training and learning new things in law enforcement."

Favre said he is now enjoying visits to his grandsons and riding his bicycle around town and chatting with many of his friends.

RETIRED POLICEMAN HONORED—Alvin Favre, center, receives a certificate of appreciation from Bay Mayor Larry Bennett, left, and a plaque from Police Chief Douglas Williams last week. Favre retired from the police department recently after 26 years of service as a city employee. He first worked in the street department until 1965 when he joined the police department when Lathan Garriga was chief and worked under Robert Goodsell and Billy Carbonnette in addition to Williams. Real Estate

REALTOR

THE PRE-OWNED HOME

"Pre-owned" is a euphemism for a home you acquire second-hand or fifth (or even tenth — in the case of a heritage house). According to the National Association of Realtors, Americans purchase approximately 3 million homes annually. Of these, some 2½ million are pre-owned homes. What accounts for this popularity?

Beyond the very practical advantages offered by older homes, they exert an emotional appeal as well. Charm is a major factor; so too are individuality, and privacy resulting from hedges and full grown trees.

In addition to these intangibles, the older home offers a wider choice of selection — there are approximately two to three times as many existing dwellings as new homes on the market today. However, you should take a careful look at basic systems, such as plumbing, heating and electricity to be sure they are up to current standards.

Bits 'n pieces

We seem to have been the fire capital of the world for the last several weeks.

The Maurice Summers family of Standard Community, whose home was leveled by a fire Saturday morning, is being assisted through a fund set-up for them at Gulf National Bank. Anyone interested in helping the family can do so at Gulf National.

According to a spokesman of the Firemen's Association, the Summers lost everything they owned in the fire.

In the last few weeks we have had homes destroyed by fire plus thousands and thousands of acres of woodlands burned to a cinder.

Please be extra careful with fire.

We have to be very proud of the Little Theatre group who won first place in their production of 'The Sea Horse' in statewide competition.

The local group will present 'The Sea Horse' this Friday and Saturday night at the Bay Little Theatre's home on Boardman Avenue at 8:15 p.m.

Proceeds from the two performances will be used by the group to attend a southeastern theatre competition in Orlando, Fla., in March where they will represent the whole State of Mississippi.

Laurie Byrd is director; Mike Cuevas and Rusty Blackwell are the actors; with John Holmes, Billy Bailey and Richard Taylor staging the production.

We wish them luck in Orlando and hope everyone will see the production Friday or Saturday night. We know they can use our support.

From time to time we see mention of Stan Opotowsky in connection with ABC Television news.

In a recent TV Guide article about the 52 American hostages, and the problems of newsmen, we read, "...That's all we legally have, says Stan Opotowsky, ABC's director of television news-gathering."

The reason we mention this is because in the mid-50's Opotowsky was the owner of The Sea Coast Echo and feel many of you would remember him.

CONSUMER REPORT

BILL ALLAIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL

BAITED, SWITCHED—AND HOOKED?

Attorney General Bill Allain is warning consumers to be wary of the "Bait and Switch" sales scheme. Allain states that the plot may be simple, but can often be very costly to the unsuspecting consumer.

Bait and switch is a sales technique whereby a product or service is advertised at a special price, but is never intended to be sold at the special price.

The seller either points out the limitations of the advertised special and then switches the purchaser to a higher priced model, or advises the consumer that the advertised special is "out of stock", or that without an additional purchase the advertised special is worthless.

The advertised special is the "bait" and the "switch" takes place when the purchaser is persuaded to spend more money. A bait advertisement is primarily aimed at obtaining leads as to persons who are interested in buying merchandise of the type so advertised.

Listed below are some business practices which can be considered indications bait and switch advertising:

—The refusal to sell or demonstrate advertised products.

—Failure to have adequate supply of the product unless the ad discloses that supplies are limited.

—Refusal to take orders for the advertised merchandise.

"Bait and switch" schemes are both fraudulent and illegal. For additional information contact your Attorney General Bill Allain, Consumer Protection Division, P.O.Box 220, Jackson, Ms. 39205.

Washington Report

By Congressman Trent Lott

5th District, Mississippi

A NEW BEGINNING

The hopes and aspirations of the American people now rest on the capable shoulders of Ronald Reagan, who has taken the oath as America's 40th President.

President Reagan was sworn in during an inaugural week which featured the usual ceremonial flourish, but with an added attraction no fireworks display could match:

Our hostages, under an agreement worked out by former President Carter, were released from captivity in Iran. After what has been described as a "decompression" period, the 52 Americans will be flown back to the safety of their families and country.

FINE WAY TO START

In my judgment, the release of the hostages on Inauguration Day could not have come at a better time. Now, President Reagan's first term of office can begin without the need to spend every minute of every working day on this issue.

He will be able to move ahead quickly on other pressing national concerns. Even so, I hope he will review the agreement which resulted in the release of the hostages because, as the new President, he must know precisely to what the U.S. has been committed.

President Reagan will be getting to work immediately on legislative remedies for our national economic woes. As a matter of fact, he already has ordered a freeze on federal employment, which will be helpful.

Beyond that, I expect President Reagan to aggressively pursue a balanced federal budget and, as House Republican Whip, I expect to work closely with him in the effort. Our challenge is to control the federal spending process and, by so doing, help to bring down the rate of inflation.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

The American people have great expectations of President Reagan and the individuals who will make up the various levels in his administration. I believe he has assembled a high quality team whose actions will make us proud again.

My hope is that we conservatives in Congress can help push the Reagan legislative program to passage. It will not be an easy task, but it is one to which I am totally dedicated.

Rep. Compretta files Legislative report

SCHOOL LEGISLATION

As a member of the Education Committee I've introduced several bills recommended by the Hancock County Grand Jury in October.

These bills regard county school board members retaining salvage material and accepting gifts from contractors.

I've also introduced a bill to reduce county school board members' terms from six to four years and another requiring at least a high school education as a requirement to run for a school board post.

The Education Subcommittee will probably consider applying the laws to other types of public school districts.

ANNUAL REPORTS, BILLS

I've furnished the reference section of the City-County Library on US-90 in Bay St. Louis annual reports from all state agencies and a list of bills introduced in the 1981 Legislative Session which is now underway.

The list of bills is by short title.

Anyone interested in any type of legislation can check the title and contact me if they have a question about the bill.

I can provide a copy of the bill or the status of the legislation.

In the future I will be making other information available regarding state government and will place that information in the local library.

Anyone may contact me by calling me in Jackson at 948-7321 or mail inquiries to me at the Mississippi Legislature, P. O. Box 1018, Jackson, Miss. 39205.

The current legislative session will end April 5.

Many Cancers Cured

One third of all cancers in the United States are being cured today. A cancer cure means that the patient has survived, free of the disease, for at least five years since treatment.

Still, some 400,000 people in this country die of cancer each year, more than 1,000 people each day, about one every 80 seconds. Of this total, some 130,000 will die who might have been saved through earlier detection and treatment, says a pamphlet from the American Medical Association.

Cancers are most readily curable if they can be treated before they spread from their original location. They are less curable after they have invaded surrounding healthy tissue and least controllable when they have traveled to other parts of the body. To be cured, cancers must be found early and removed or destroyed before they have started to spread.

Since two-thirds of all cancers are on the surface of the body or close enough to the surface to be seen with common examination aids or felt with the physician's fingers, early detection often is possible.

The causes of cancer in man are not known. Extensive research suggests that some cancers result from physical or chemical irritation. Physical irritation includes friction, heat, sunlight, x-rays and other kinds of radiation. Among chemical irritants are tars, some heavy metals, certain hormones and some dyes. Recent evidence suggests that some cancers may be caused by viruses.

Cigarette smoking has been firmly linked to lung cancer, and tobacco also has been linked to cancers of the mouth, tongue and vocal cords.

A knowledge of how cancers act and what to do if one strikes is essential in curing and controlling these diseases, and in avoiding quacks, charlatans and nostrum peddlers who prey on uninformed people.

Woods arsonists called saboteurs of national resource

The Sea Coast Echo
Editor

Dear Sir:

What a commendable letter in Thursday's (Jan. 22) Echo by Hancock County Forestor Rand D. Riedrich.

His condemnation of perpetrators of woods fires, these abominable destroyers of trees and wild life, so valuable to mankind; his calling them "Jackasses", was too mild, also an insult to animals, who wouldn't and couldn't do a thing like this.

It would be more fitting to put such vandals in the catagory of those who commit sabotage.

They fall in line, with all the rest of the current conspirators performing their evil acts of destruction: such as house fires, hotel fires, nursing homes, industrial explosions , etc.

Naturally they wouldn't forget the forests, all such deeds, ultimately create scarcity and expense to consumers.

I thoroughly agree with Forester Riedrich, citizens should be alert, to the cunning machinations of modern subversions.

A member of my family actually witnessed an arsonist in a large luxurious looking car, stopping every few minutes along the roadside, lighting fires, in a thick over growth of beautiful trees.

This villain was reported to the proper authorities; hopefully he was given punishment, he so justly deserved. This event happened in the State of Georgia.

Salesman defends route truck driver in parking incident

1-26-81
Sea Coast Echo

The Editor

Under the heading of Bits and Pieces our editor brings out some very important and worthwhile and interesting facts.

Sunday he rightfully and masterfully brought out one side of a very heartbreaking aspect of human abuse.

He told us that there are some very rude people in our midst and they surface ever now and then — correction — They surface everyday.

He told us that a very good friend of his related to him how her car was "blocked in" at one of our shopping centers, and she along with other shoppers were forced to wait for an irate inconsiderate highway express truck driver to make up his mind to move his truck "only after he completed his delivery."

With all due respect to our editor whose only interest in such matters is to try to create harmony and the lady who sounds like one of our "never do wrong angels," but it seems that some were in time gone by I have heard or read where even angels have been thrown out of Heaven.

Due to the public knowledge of my past many years as a salesman I am sure that the first thought in the mind of many people is, — he is prejudiced — Far be it.

I am quiet sure that I didn't always act in the best interest of everyone concerned.

I also know that there are a lot of fine, apologizing, considerate, ready to move shoppers out there.

Too many of our important, unconcerned self satisfying egotistical, hateful shoppers don't heed the fact that there is a designated "no parking" area in every shopping center parking area.

In most cases trucks are welcomed to this area for delivery purposes.

Shoppers don't only park in these no parking bays to enter the adjourning store but they leave their car there while they shop the center.

In the meantime a tired weather beaten traffic weary salesman has to park a hundred feet away to make a 500 to 5000 pound delivery, while these thoughtless, unconcerned, uncaring shoppers take thirty minutes to buy a loaf of bread, carton of milk, a six pack or carton of cigarettes, or they may even be in another store socializing with neighbor or trying to decide which pair of shoes to buy.

After over three years in retirement I guess I shouldn't be concerned with such trivia, but down through the years I have been haunted with an unanswered factor—

If we had no customers, what need would there be for salesman—If we had no salesman what would the shopper do?

Which come first —The hen or the egg?

Thanks,
Earl Lizana

Park manager commends staff, facilities at hospital

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

I would like to assure my fellow citizens in Hancock County that we have a hospital facility and hospital staff here of whom we can all be proud.

During a recent stay in the hospital, I don't believe many could buy better care and treatment than I received, including while being transported by Mobile Medic.

Emergency room personnel and the people who run the intensive care unit were all exceptionally kind and proficient.

My hat is off to all the doctors, nurses and other staff members with whom I came in contact during that recent hospitalization.

The Hancock County Park Commission also was very kind to me during that trying time.

Sincerely,
Marie Wall

people have been paying the county lease money."

"But the county can't issue a quit claim when we don't clearly own the land," he stated.

"Hancock County probably could be named as a defendant in a lawsuit over the property, but there hasn't been any wrongdoing by the school board. The supervisors claimed the property to be its land," the land manager said.

In other business at the 9 a.m. meeting in the Dan Russell Sr. Memorial Youth Court Building, the board:

—Received notice that all schools in the district have been granted one-year accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools;

—Approved a teacher evaluation policy submitted by Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills which would required two teacher evaluations by school principals each semester;

—Approved a personnel selection policy submitted by Sills;

—Approved a 1.9-acre 25-year residential land lease near the Leetown Community with Authur C. McNeal in Section 24-6-16 at $179 per year;

—Approved a five-acre residential lease with Jeff Ware in Section 24-6-16 at $300 per year;

—Approved a five-acre 25-year commercial lease with Ware in Section 24-6-16 at $400 per year;

—Approved a two-acre residential lease with Mary Acker in Section 16-9-16 near Pearlington at $279 per year;

—Approved a one-acre residential lease with James E. Terrell in Section 16-9-16 at $126 per year;

—Approved a one-year contract with Randolph at $9,800 per year plus five percent commission on each lease;

—Authorized advertising its intent to lease some 26 acres of agricultural land in Section 24-6-16;

—Authorized purchasing five butane carburetor conversion kits to convert five school busses to the alternate propulsion system;

—Tabled approval of athletic conference by-laws;

—Tabled approval of the Mardi Gras parade schedule of the Hancock North Central High School Band;

—Tabled a request by Charlotte Johnson to transport two pre-school handicapped children to and from school daily;

—Heard a report from Sills that he is recommending each school purchase two quartz emergency lights to be installed in gymnasiums;

—Heard a report from Sills that a policy is being written regarding a policy of buying and receiving goods.

Industrial Airpark gets $160,000 grant

By BRENT MACEY

News of long-awaited approval on a $160,000 grant from the Economic Development Admistration for construction work at the Stennis Industrial Airpark reached the Port and Harbor Commission Thursday.

Wilson Webre, the commission's executive director, said, "We are elated regardless of the time factor involved in the approval."

Webre added the final paper work has not been received by his office.

"A secretary from Congressman Trent Lott's office called and informed us the loan was approved. We are very optimistic that the grant will be finalized." Webre said.

He stated he had never heard of a case where the EDA rescinded a grant approval.

"The grant will help us finance much needed improvements and facilities which will service future industries in the area," he said.

Webre said a state grant accompaning the EDA grant for the airpark construction is also forthcoming.

Webre said the EDA grant stems from an application requesting the financing of street paving and water distribution at the airpark.

Applications for that grant were prepared in the early part of 1978, according to Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Delevopment Inc., who prepared the application.

Smith said the application came back about five times 'mainly because the EDA changed the guidlines for the grant application.'

He said some of the guidline changes were 'technicalities' at times involving a change in the form numbers for the applications.

The one road slated for paving is north of the access road to the airport, Smith said.

He said paving includes some 3,000 feet of dirt road.

A 10 inch water main will be placed along the west side of the road. That line will have feeder lines running to the east side of the road to service prospective industries, Smith said.

The water main will be able to service a 92 acre area, he added.

Also included are six sewer crossings to be installed before the road is paved, Smith said.

A prospective company which may locate on a 4.5 acre lot along that road is Walle Corporation of New Orleans, Smith said.

He said the corportation purchased the lot several years ago.

The corporation is a commercial printing firm which could employ 91 people at the airpark, he said.

Webre said the commission has been in contact with the company for several years.

"They always have been a very viable business. We remain very hopeful the company will locate down here," he said.

According to Webre, one of the main deterents to the company's not moving has been the lack of an unpaved street and water distribution to the site for fire protection.

"We hope that new improvements will provide the inducement they need to move." he added.

Webre said the commission had 'other prospects' for the area but would not mention names.

"There are other business which considered sites in the Port Bienville Industrial Park which we have informed of a more centrally located area in the airpark." Webre said.

Webre said those types of industries did not require the rail and water accesses available at Port Bienville.

He stated the airpark location is close to the airport and also to the main highway.

Smith said the park is designed to attract a higher technological type of industry to the area not requiring the use of rail and water channels, such as commercial distribution companies and manufacturing plants.

Webre said the airpark site is also more suitable to employment of women.

"The area holds opportunities to accomodate the female market as well. We will be able to have companies which can hire women and increase density for female employment," he stated.

We are taking it a step at a time," Webre said. We are not on any crash course. We want to be selective in the type of business that will locate there in order to best serve the community.

Hancock library lists new books

By SHERRY SCHWABACHER
REFERANCE LIBRARIAN

'The cold wind doth blow'—so what could be better than curling up with a warm quilt and a good book? You supply the quilt and the Hancock County Library System will supply the good book.

Why not try one of these:

—'The Covenant' by James Michener is his latest massive and panoramic historical novel—this one dealing with 15,000 years of South African history;

—'The Hidden Target' by Helen MacInnes. Spies, good and bad, a cleancut American type, an attractive woman, romance, double-dealing, and, in this case, the evil forces of international terrorism. Good fun in the MacInnes vein;

—'Aztec' by Gary Jennings. A towering new novel which vividly recreates the Aztec civilization in all its glory—and barbarism! An unforgettable epic adventure in the grand tradition of 'Shogun';

—'Loon Lake' by E. L. Doctorow. The strange, lyrical adventures of a young man during the Depression, from the author of 'Ragtime';

—'Firestarter' by Stephen King. The sure touch of a master of the macabre in this story of an eight-year-old girl who has the power to look at anything and turn it into flames;

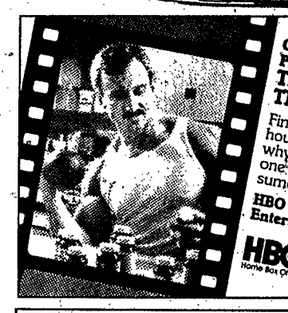

—'Side Effects' by Woody Allen. The celebrated comedian and film-maker offers his trenchant observations on sex, death, religion and almost everything else;

—'American Dreams' by Studs Terkel. The author of 'Working' and other oral histories of this country has collected these interviews of 100 men and women in which they talk about their hopes and fears;

—'Goodbye, Darkness' by William Manchester. A memoir of the Pacific war as experienced by a young marine and recalled 40 years later;

—'Towards the Mountain' by Alan Paton. The autobiography of the celebrated South African writer, whose novel 'Cry, The Beloved Country', first turned the spotlight of world opinion on South Africa and it's policy of apartheid.

Victim testifies during rape trial

By BRENT MACEY

Testimony in the trial of Jimmie Jordan, 20, of Shoreline Park in Bay St. Louis, accused of raping a resident of the subdivision August 18, began Wednesday afternoon after Judge Leslie B. Grant concluded rulings on defense pre-trial motions Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning.

Grant sustained a pre-trial motion by defense attorney James Tucker III not to allow the jury to view the affidavit and warrant for Jordan's arrest.

Tucker said the Supreme Court has ruled an affidavit must contain more particulars than an indictment when a warrant is issued.

He stated the affidavit filled out by the victim 'did not give the particulars.'

A motion to waive a taped admission of guilt by the defendant the morning after the rape incident was overruled by the judge.

Tucker contended Jordan did not understand his legal rights before giving the statement and was coerced by Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and Investigator Alvin Ladner to admit to the rape.

John Paul Jordan, a cousin of the defendant, testified Jordan went to the sheriff's department Aug. 19, after his wife told him the sheriff's department was looking for Jimmie Jordan the night before when the two were at work.

The cousin said Peterson said he had a warrant for Jimmie's arrest and both Peterson and Ladner took Jimmie into the investigation office.

He contended that while outside the office door, he overheard Peterson tell the defendant, "We know you did it so you might as well admit it."

Jordan said Peterson told the defendant of a person who pleaded guilty to rape and was let out 18 months after receiving a five year sentence.

He stated both Peterson and Ladner 'hollered' at the six-foot-three, 425 pound defendant and made the defendant cry.

Both Peterson and Ladner denied the accusations.

Peterson said the defendent gave the statement and then inquired what the sentence was for rape.

Peterson said he told Jordan he did not know what the sentence would be and that the decision was up to the court.

The rape victim, married and the mother of a six-month-old child, was the first person called to testify Wednesday afternoon after the pre—trial motions.

She stated she had seen her husband off to work earlier on the morning of Aug. 18 and was washing her hair when she heard a 'continuous knocking on the door.'

The victim, who stated she was clad in her housecoat with a towel around her head, said she picked up her baby from the front room crib before going to the window beside the front door to see who was knocking.

"I asked who it was. He said it was Jimmy Jordan and that he had worked with my husband on a shrimp boat," she said.

She said that she opened the door and the defendant walked in.

The five-foot-two, 105 pound victim said the defedant walked into the house without being asked.

She stated she became scared when he began looking around the house.

She said she considered running from the house at the same time the defendant closed the door behind him.

"He caught me around the throat and I thought he would kill me and probably kill her (the baby) too," the victim said quietly.

"I figured my husband would come home and find us both dead," she added.

"He asked me if I wanted to live, or something like that," she stated.

She said the baby started to slip toward the floor and the defendant told her to put the baby in the crib.

"He caught me by the arm and took me down the hall and pushed me into the bedroom," she explained.

"He ripped my housecoat off and raped me," she said quietly.

She said after she was raped, the defendant told her his name and told her someone had paid him $200 to do it.

"He started talking saying he was sorry he had done it and that if I told the police he would probably go to prison. I said no I would not call the police," she said.

Triton seeking parade entries

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Seventh Annual Triton Parade is ready to roll Mardi Gras Day, March 3 from Waveland to Bay St. Louis, according to a spokesman for the organization.

The Krewe of Triton was organized in 1974 with its first parade on Mardi Gras, 1975.

Reigning kings were E.P. (Hungry) Exnicious, Triton I; Ray Kidd, Triton II; Edward Scanlon, Triton III; Fred Peterman, Triton IV; Lynn McGeehe, Triton V; and Harmon Turan, Triton VI.

J.D. (Big John) Rutherford will be Triton VII on March 3.

The 1981 parade will have ten Triton floats, several bands, marching groups, and also a group of Shriners from as far away as Pensacola, Fla.

The Mardi Gras parade in 1980 attracted a crowd estimated at more than 10,000 along Triton's US-90 route.

The Captain of Triton is only known to the krewe members.

Persons or groups planning to enter floats are asked to contact Russell Elliot at Colonial Realty, 467-6585 for registration forms.

The officers of Triton will ride the parade route on convertibles and there will also be members of Triton masked on horseback.

The Tritons took their name from Triton, the son of Poseidon and Amphitrite. He was half man, half fish, and lived with his father in the depths of the sea near the coast of Libya.

As Poseidon's son, Triton shared some of his father's powers. Like him he could raise or calm the waves. He could be seen riding the waves on his chariot drawn by steeds whose hooves were the claws of crayfish.

During the war with the Giants, Triton contributed to the victory of the Olympians by fighting the Giants with the terrible sounds he made with his conch. Later, it was Triton whom Zeus made responsible for seeing that the waters withdrew after the deluge.

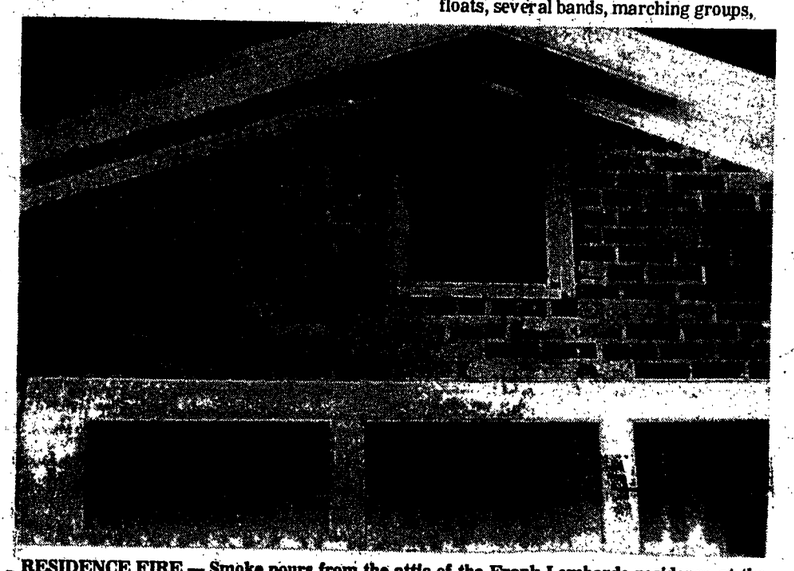

The Tritons were marine creatures, who played among the waves, noisily blowing on conch shells, and might sometimes be seen frolicking with the gracious Nereids.

A Triton's body was covered with scales, his teeth were sharp, and his fingers were claws. His breast and belly were supplied with fins and, instead of legs, had the forked tail of a marine monster. Some were furnished with a pair of horses' legs as well, and were known as Centaur-Tritons.

Although they lived in the sea, the Tritons sometimes ventured on land. At Tanagra, people remembered a Triton who had desolated the country and ravished the women.

To capture him, they placed a vase filled with wine on the beach. The Triton drank it and during his drunken slumber a fisherman cut off his head.

The Tritons shared the gift of prophecy with the other marine gods, Nereus and Proteus, but they personified the roar of the sea and its wild movement, as their attribute, blowing of the conchs, tends to indicate.

Local seminary program to change dramatically

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Catholic order of Divine Word Missionaries at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis will dramatically change its religious vocation recruitment and training program by May, 1982.

As a result, other phases of the local operation will be expanded.

Rev. Francis Theriault, SVD, rector of the local seminary located on US-90, this week said high school students (minor seminarians) will be 'phased out' of the Bay St. Louis program by May, 1982.

St. Augustine has operated a high school program since 1923, when the seminary relocated here from Greenville.

Theriault stated, "Our aim will be to recruit more high school graduates, college students and university graduates for seminary training."

Some 31 high school age seminarians live at St. Augustine and attend classes at nearby St. Stanislaus High School, a private Catholic school operated by Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

Seminarians have been attending classes at Stanislaus since fall of 1967. Prior to that time high school age seminarians were taught at St. Augustine.

Theriault reported the minor seminarians pay their own tuition with some paying expenses by participating in a work-study program. The program employs students in housekeeping and grounds work.

Rev. Walter Bracken, SVD, vocation director, stated, "The primary reason we're phasing out the high school program is because vocational choices are being made at an older age."

"This trend is apparant throughout the U.S. People are choosing and changing vocations at an older age in a number of professions," Bracken noted.

Emphasizing the current low retention of the high school students who continue into novitiate programs, Theriault reported, "Our last high school graduate to complete our entire training program was in 1972."

"Our retention rate has been very poor because of this trend of vocational choices being made later in life," the rector said.

Bracken revealed a Divine Word seminary in Riverside, Calif. has successfully operated its vocational program by recruiting older men.

"Our planned new program is a proven one. We will have much greater results than in our current high school arrangement," Bracken noted.

"At least one of the Divine Word's four seminaries now providing full religious vocational training, including high school classes, is considering an arrangement similar to the one we now have with Stanislaus in which the seminarians go out from the seminary for high school classes," Bracken explained.

"And another seminary's high school program is being evaluated," the vocation director said.

Theriault added, "These high school seminary programs will not be phased out, these choices will originate on the local level and then be evaluated by our superior general in Rome, Italy."

The rector also noted 'a lack of personnel' as a secondary reason for discontinuing the high school program locally.

Bracken said St. Augustine is waiting until May, 1982 to phase out the high school program 'because we have students still interested in this program—this gives us a full year to arrange an alternate program for these students.'

St. Augustine is headquarters and communication center for Divine Word Missionaries' Southern Province which includes Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Antigua and Carribean countries.

The seminary is also utilized as a retirement home for priests and brothers of the religious order, an individual religious retreat facility, and the primary U.S training center for novices of the missionary organization.

Theriault said an increased utilization of communication tools would be part of an overall improvement of the public relations efforts at St. Augustine as province headquarters and communications center.

He reported a member of the order is preparing slide presentations and lectures to assist missionaries throughout the province.

"We hope to become capable of producing religious television programs for the province missions," the rector noted.

Rev. Terry Steib, SVD, is provincial of the Southern Province.

The retirement home facilities at St. Augustine will not be affected by the transition.

However, Bracken said there is a definite possiblity there will be an increase in use of the seminary complex as an individual retreat facility.

"We are looking in the direction of our facilities becoming a center for retreats," Bracken stated.

"We have individuals making private retreats which are called directed retreats. Some of these are people who may be, for instance, exploring the possiblity of entering the priesthood," the vocational director noted.

"Periodically we have priests and sisters who come here for directed retreats," he said.

"We don't have large dormitory facilities to offer retreats for large groups," Bracken noted.

"We are set up for individual adult retreats, but we can host single-day retreats for large groups," the vocational director stated.

Bracken said several local schools bring groups of students regularly to the seminary for single-day retreats.

The vocation director explained that group retreats requiring dorm facilities and fees for these services would only pay operating expenses, but not the cost of construction of a building or renovation of an existing structure at the seminary.

Regarding the novitiate program at St. Augustine, Bracken said that aspect of the seminary would receive more emphasis in the future.

A novice is a student in the first year of training as a member of the order. Some 17 novices currently are enrolled at the seminary.

"After completing the novitiate program novices begin pursuing theology and various other studies," Bracken explained.

Prior to the novitiate program, the religous prospect completing college may enter an associate program of studies.

Bracken said a pre-novitiate program is also offered at Divine Word College in Epworth, Iowa.

He noted the associate and pre-novitiate programs would receive more emphasis with the termination of the high school seminarian program.

"We are the central novitiate for the entire U.S. The novitiate program is a vital part of training, but we want to do this economically by appealing to college-age people," Bracken reported.

The international missionary order headquartered in Rome has 5,284 members in 37 countries worldwide.

St. Augustine was established more than 60 years ago primarily for the training of young black men for the priesthood.

Between 1891 and 1910 only five black priests were ordained in the U.S. Before the Divine Word Missionaries established seminaries in the U.S. blacks traveled to Europe for training and ordination as priests.

St. Augustine is the oldest seminary in Mississippi.

Election commissioner trial slated April 3

By BRENT MACEY

Trial of John Ladner, Hancock County Beat Three election commissioner indicted in connection with Gulfview School tornado damage repairs, is set April 6.

Ladner was indicted by the October term Hancock County Grand Jury and charged with two counts of forgery for allegedly endorsing and cashing two checks totaling $4,840 issued by the Hancock County School Board to Tommy Lane.

The indictment came as the result of the Grand Jury's investigation into repair work done at Gulfview Elementary School after the school board declared the situation an emergency when a tornado struck the school in May.

The trial was initially scheduled for the January Circuit Court term currently underway.

Joe Sam Owen, attorney for Ladner, said he requested the trial be postponed until the next term because he did not have time to prepare for the case.

"At the time of the arraignment I did not know if I would accept the case," he said.

The trial of R.D. (Bob) Rippetoe, owner of Bay Contractors Inc., is set for April 13.

Rippetoe is charged with false pretense for allegedly recieving $4,840 from the school board for work allegedly not performed at the Gulfview school.

The trial of Oris Ladner is set for call tommorrow but is expected to be continued, according to Henry Otis, circuit clerk.

Ladner is charged with conflict of interest for allegedly working for Rippetoe at the elementary school while also holding office on the school board.

Otis said a new date for the trial should be set Friday.

Local read-a-thon coordinators told

Eldois Wilkinson of Hancock North Central Elementary was named school coordinator for a mental health read- a-thon, David Luckett, president of the Mental Health Association in Mississippi said in Jackson recently.

The association's state president also reported that Mary Carson will coordinate a read-a-thon program at Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlington.

"Students of Hancock North Central Elementary will be calling on their relatives and neighbors to obtain pledges for each book they read," Wilkinson said this week.

Mississippi's 1980 Miss America Cheryl Prewitt is serving as honorary chairperson.

"She is encouraging kids to get involved in this unique program, one that stimulates good reading skills, while helping to fund the mental health programs in Mississippi," Wilkinson explained.

"Each student participating in the read-a-thon will become eligible for prizes in several categories, in addition to receiving an autographed picture of Prewitt during her reign as Miss America," Wilkinson explained.

"Proceeds from the Read-A-Thon will be used by the association to continue its fight against mental illness. This is a statewide voluntary, non-profit organization devoted to, reducing the stigma of mental illness, improving services for the mentally ill, preventing mental illness and promoting mental health. It is the only statewide organization of its kind engaged in advocacy for the mentally ill.

Oil, gas information abound at library

Located in a red brick building across the street from Mississippi Memorial Stadium in Jackson is a library that doesn't contain any best sellers nor any popular consumer magazines, but serves a very special clientele.

The library is operated by the Bureau of Geology, a part of the Mississippi Dep. ment of Natural Resources.

"The Bureau of Geology is one of the oldest agencies in state government, created by an act of the legislature in 1850," a Department of Natural Resources spokesman said recently.

"Originally based at the University of Mississippi, the Bureau of Geology has also been quartered in the state penitentiary when the prison was in Jackson," the spokesman noted.

The Bureau has been in its present location on North West Treet in Jackson since 1962.

"The geology library contains the largest collection of publications dealing with Mississippi geology of any library anywhere. The library acquires about 300 new documents and maps each month," the spokesman reported.

The library is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and is open to the public.

"Due to the specialized nature of the library most of its clients are geologists, petroleum geologists, students and teachers," the spokesman said.

"Although publications in the library date back to the late 1850s, a librarian has been employed for only about six years," the spokesman reported.

Ann Bellomy is presently librarian.

Rock-A-Chaws, Lady Hawks win tourney

By Randy Ponder

St. Stanislaus and the Hancock North Central girls took top honors in the Bay High Invitational Basketball Tournament before a very vocal crowd at the Tiger Dome Saturday night in Bay St. Louis.

The Rock-A-Chaws never trailed in their game with the Hancock North Central Hawks, winning 65-57.

After falling behind early in the contest, the Hawks fought to a 12-12 deadlock near the end of the first period only to see the stanza end with the Rocks on top 14-12.

Midway thur the second quarter the Rock-A-Chaws had built an eleven point advanage but by halftime the lead had slipped to 31-24.

The Hawks out scored St. Stanislaus 14-13 in the third period to further tighten the game.

A twenty one point out burst by the Rock-A-Chaws in the final quarter put the game out of reach.

A disappointed Hancock North Central squad watched the juvilant St. Stanislaus players celebrate their 19th consecutive victory of the 1980-81 basketball season.

Joe Saia led all scorers with 18 points for the Rocks. He was followed by David McDonnell with 11, Richard Brown-9, Billy Waits-9, Rodney Corr-6, Brian Logan-6, Shannon Corr-4, and Marc Meyers with 2 points.

When the final buzzer sounded the girls from Hancock North Central claimed the tournament championship with a hard fought 38-34 decision.

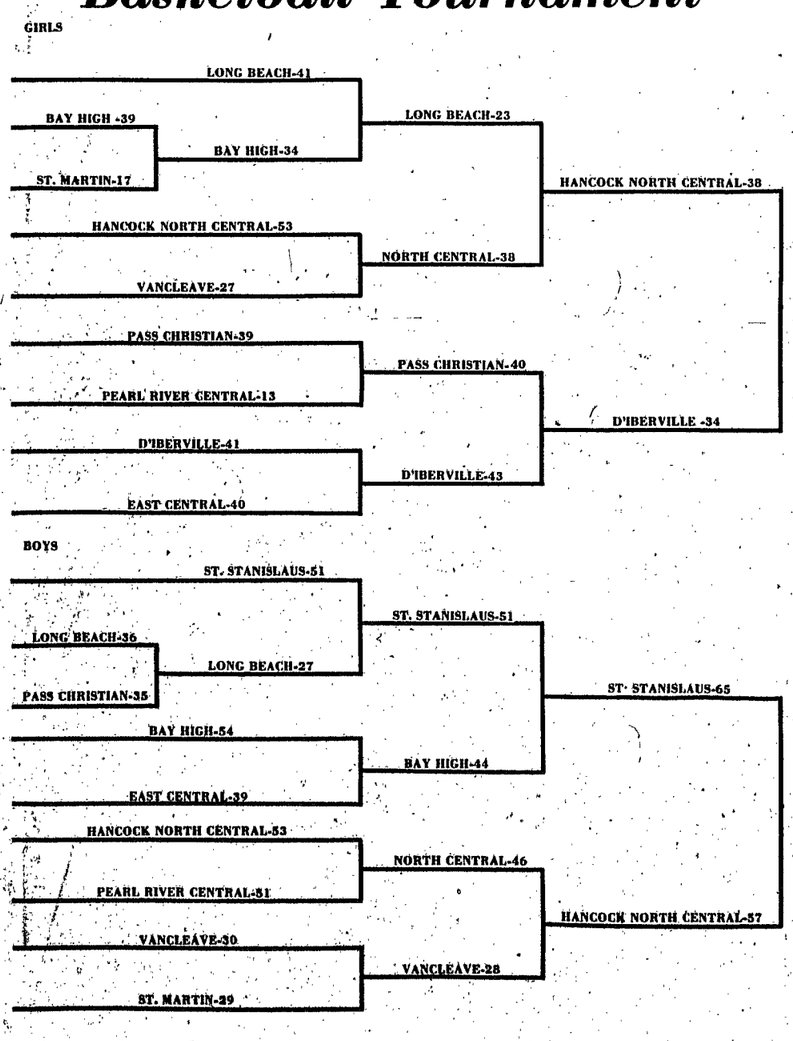

Sheila Ladner led the Hawkettes with a game high 12 points. Betsy Arcement tossed in 10, Susie Necaise-6, Terri Phebus-6, and Anne Hebert rounded out the scoring with 4 points.

Little Theatre offers award-winning play Friday, Saturday

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present two special performances of 'The Sea Horse' Friday and Saturday at the Playhouse on Boardman Avenue.

Rusty Blackwell and Mike Cuevas

Curtain time will be 8:15 p.m. with tickets available at the door and at Griffon's Pharmacy in Pass Christian, and The Eatery and at Chapman's Business Service in Bay St. Louis.

Directed by Laurie Byrd, and starring Mike Cuevas and Rusty Blackwell, 'The Sea Horse' will be Mississippi's entry at an 11-state Community Theatre Festival Competition in Orlando, Fla. in March.

"The Sea Horse,' which received a standing ovation following its presentation at state competition recently, will be presented using a contest format.

"Audiences will view stage preparation, performance, and striking of the set exactly as required by the competition rules," a little theatre spokesman explained.

The local little theatre group recently won first place with their production of the play in statewide competition in Hattiesburg recently.

Due to the subject material of the show, the play is recommended for mature audiences.

"I'd better hang up now, Mother. You know how Fred is about long-distance calls."

Nutritional risks linked to use of alcohol, drugs

America has become a nation of drug users and abusers, whether it be over-the-counter or prescription medicines.

This is true of all age group, says Eleanor B. Coats, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Food and nutrition specialist.

"All drugs are toxic if used in excess, and will almost aways cause undesirable side effects," she adds.

"One undesirable side effect may be nutritional deficiency. The diet may affect the drug action or, conversely, the drug may affect food intake and the way the body absorbs, uses and gets rid of nutrients."

Some drugs may suppress the appetite by interfering with taste, smell or saliva production. Or they may cause nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. These side effects can lead to eating poorly or not at all. This is common in persons undergoing chemotherapy.

Drugs also may reduce absorption of nutrients. Laxatives speed up the emptying of the stomach and intestine so that nutrients have less time to be absorbed. Mineral oil combines with fat-soluble vitamins and keeps them from being absorbed.

Constant and long use of antacids, common over-the-counter products, can reduce iron absorption and make the body lose enough phosphorus to result in possible muscle weakness. Diuretics increase the excretion of sodium and potassium in the urine and can deplete the body stores.

Other drugs interfer with metabolism of nutrients. Aspirin interferes with vitamin C metabolism. Prolonged use of antibiotics that destroy disease-causing bacteria can destroy the vitamin K-producing bacteria in the intestine and increase blood clotting time.

Oral contraceptives interfere with the body's use of many vitamins. In most healthy women, these decreased vitamin levels do not reach the point of real deficiency. But young women who are on poor diets may develop nutritional problems, she says.

Foods interact with drugs and may affect the absorption and effectiveness of drugs. It is important to know when to take a medicine and what foods to avoid at that time, Mrs. Coats says.

"For example, penicillin should be taken with little or no food, because when it is taken with food, it is not absorbed fully. Certain food may interfere with certain drugs. Milk, for example, blocks the action of tetracyclines," she explains.

Sometimes people will mix a drug with fruit juice or cola to mask the flavor. This is not a good practice because some drugs are dissolved more readily in acid and could irritate the stomach lining.

Get specific instructions for each drug taken. Learn if it should be taken before, after or during meals, and what foods, if any, should be avoided. When consumers buy prescription drugs, they should insist on adequate instructions from physicians and pharmacists and be sure to follow them. When over-the-counter drugs are used, read and follow directions. Federal food and drug regulations require that labels provide warnings about hazards involved in drug use.

Alcohol is considered a drug, but it is not regulated by the Food and Drug Administration. Both toxic and addictive, it acts as a depressant. Too much alcohol can lead to serious nutritional deficiencies. It damages the liver, the central organ for the metabolism of most nutrients.

Alcohol also interacts with many drugs. For instance the blood-thinning effects of anticoagulants may be increased when mixed with alcohol. Anti-depressants and antihypertensives should not be mixed with Chianti wine and beer because of their tyramine content. A buildup of tyramine in the body can increase the blood pressure dangerously.

"Be alert to possible effects that even one drink can have on a drug," she cautions. "If you don't know, and the label doesn't tell you, avoid alcoholic beverages when taking prescription or over-the-counter medicines."

When your physician prescribes a drug for you, tell him what drugs you take, including over-the-counter products and alcohol. Be sure you understand when and how the drug should be taken, and follow the directions. Tell your physician of any side effects.

FAILURE TO YIELD—Two Ford Pinto sedans collided about 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the corner of Hancock and Bookter Streets in Bay St. Louios, resulting in apparent injury to a passenger in one of the vehicles. Myra Payne, 19, of Bay St. Louis, driver of the car pictured, supplies information on the crash to police investigator Matt Karl as Mobile Medic technicians attend Lexie Haynes, 22, of Bay St. Louis inside the car. RSVP report

REPORT FROM RETIRED SENIOR VOLUNTEER PROGRAM
By THERESA JAMES
DIRECTOR

By now, our Volunteers have settled down to routine business after a busy holiday season and we are glad to see you all back again.

Congratulations to Pauline Demarest who opened her art show with a reception at the Bay St. Louis City Hall Monday, Jan. 26. The works will be on display for a month. Coffee was provided by RSVP and the cakes by Oline Moran, Juliette Cook and Laurin La Coste. Thanks to the Art Association for making this a success.

There were so many parties and so many of our volunteers helped during the holidays that it would be impossible to thank each and everyone, but this is our way of expressing thanks to all of you who helped.

Congratulations to Dudley McCall, RSVP volunteer, who reigned as King of the Senior Citizens Carnival Ball Saturday Jan. 17, at the American Legion Hall in Waveland. Many of our volunteers belong to this organization and worked hard to make it a success.

Our fiscal year will end March 31, 1981 and we are very happy to report that, so far, we have reached all goals and will have a final report after March. Thanks to all of our loyal volunteers who are so dedicated and do so much to help make this program a success.

Pere Cabibi and Ruby Life attended the Presidential Inauguration in Washington. We are happy to have had them attend and hope to hear of their experiences while there.

Geraldine Lang recently journeyed to Washington for preliminary meeting on the White House Conference on Aging which will take palce in December 1981. We hope to have a report on this very important occasion. She has also been elected president of "Concerned Citizens" who advocate better conditions for Senior Citizens in our community. We are very proud of this very active "RSVP VOLUNTEER" and are happy to have her as one of our dedicated and active Volunteers.

Theme of this week's program is "Monsters," and will include two picture books, 'There's a Nightmare In My Closet' by Mercer Mayer and 'Beauty and the Beast' retold by Marianna Mayer and illustrated by Mercer Mayer.

Following these stories, a poem by Vachel Lindsay entitled 'Yet Gentle Will the Griffin Be' will be recited.

The story hour will conclude with Maurice Sendak's 'Seven Little Monsters' presented in flip-card format and a filmstrip of the award-winning 'Where the Wild Things Are.'

All pre-school children and their parents or teachers are welcome.

ORDINANCE
NUMBER 136

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR BUYERS OF GOLD AND SILVER, ESTABLISHING A LICENSE FEE AND PROVIDING PENALITIES FOR VIOLATIONS OF SAID ORDINANCE

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, do find and so determine that the need has arisen to make provisions for the regulation and licensing for buyers of gold and silver in order to promote the safety and the general welfare of the Community and the Citizens of Waveland.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF WAVELAND, MISSISSIPPI:

SECTION 1. Regulations and requirements for buyers of gold and silver.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any buyer to conduct, pursue or carry on the business of purchasing or trading gold, silver, or second-hand gold or silver, whether in the form of jewelry, household articles or funishings, personal effects, bric-a-brac, settings for gems, watches, flatware, service sets, or other articles of like kind in the City of Waveland, Mississippi, without first paying to the city tax collector of said city the license tax hereinafter prescribed, and procuring a license from said city tax collector.

(b) The term "buyer" as used herein shall be construed to mean any person, firm or corporation engaged in the buying or trading of gold and-or silver in any form described in Section 1(a) hereof, within the corporate limits of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, or the police jurisdiction thereof.

(c) The license tax hereby levied against buyers shall be $25.00.

(d) Applicants for license under this ordinance shall file with the city tax collector a sworn application in writing, in duplicate, on a form to be furnished to the chief of police prior to opening the business, which shall give the following information:

(1) Name and description of the applicant, including social security number, date of birth and place of birth;

(2) Full local address of the applicant, and the length of time the applicant has resided within the City;

(3) If employed, the name and address of the employer, together with credentials establishing the relationship;

(4) A description of the nature of the gold or silver buying to be done;

(5) The length of time for which the right to do gold or silver buying is desired and the location where such buying is to be done, to include actual days and hours to be open;

(6) A photograph of the applicant, taken immediately prior to the date of filing the application, which picture shall be two inches by two inches, showing the head and shoulders of the applicant in a clear and distinguishing manner;

(7) The finger prints of the applicant, and the names of at least two reliable property owners of the county who will certify as to the applicant's good character and business respectability or, in lieu of the names of such references, such other available evidence as to the good character and business respectability of the applicant, as will enable an investigator to properly evaluate such character and business responsibility;

(8) A statement as to whether or not the applicant has been convicted of any crimes, misdemeanor or violation of any municipal criminal ordinance, in any state, the nature of the offense and the punishment or penalty assessed therefor.

(9) All applications must be approved by and all data contained in Section 1(d) shall be maintained by the chief of police.

(10) Any false statement on the application or conviction of a felony will automatically disqualify the applicant and will result in the forfeiture of the $25.00 fee. The $25.00 application fee will be paid in full at the time of applying for an application.

(e) At the time of filing the application for the permit required by Section 1(d), a fee of twenty-five dollars shall be paid to the city tax collector to cover the cost of an investigation of the facts stated therein.

(f) Upon receipt of an application for the license required by Section 1(d), the original shall be referred to the chief of police of the city, who shall cause such investigation of the applicant's business and moral character to be made as he deems necessary for the protection of the public good. If, as a result of such an investigation, the applicant's character or business responsibility is found to be unsatisfactory or if he does not otherwise qualify under the provisions of this ordinance, the chief of police shall endorse on such application his disapproval and the reason for the same and return the application to the city tax collector who shall notify the applicant that his application is disapproved and that no permit will be issued. If, as a result of such investigation, the character and business responsibility of the applicant are found to be satisfactory, and he otherwise qualified under this ordinance, the chief of police shall endorse on the application his approval, and return the application to the city tax collector who shall deliver to the applicant his license, in the same manner as to other licensees of the city. Applicant shall not operate the business until all articles in Section 1 (d) (e) and (f) have been satisfactorily completed and approved.

(g) The license required by Section 1(c) shall contain the signature of the city tax collector and shall show the name, addresses and photographs of the licensee, the date of issuance and length of time the same shall be operative, as well as the license number and the chief of police shall maintain a copy of same.

(h) The city tax collector shall keep a permanent record of all licenses issued under this ordinance.

(i) Each applicant who secures a license under this ordinance for purchasing or trading gold or silver in any form set out in Section 1(a) hereof shall keep a book which shall be entered promptly at the time of purchase a description of the articles or property purchased, description of which is set forth by the chief of police, the date and hour of the purchase and a description of the person from whom the purchase is made, together with the address of such person and including full name, sex, race, social security number, date of birth, place of birth, driver's license number, and state. Each entry of such transaction shall be serially numbered on the book at the time of making the entry. Such buyer shall, on every day except Sunday, before the hour of 10:00 a.m., deliver to the chief of police, upon a form provided by him, a legible transcript of the business done during the business day immediately preceding the filing of the transcript. The report on Monday shall cover the transcript of the book covering Saturday's purchases, and Sunday's, if any.

(j) Each licensee under this ordinance shall promptly, prior to the beginning of business, register with the chief of police, in the book kept for that purpose, his name, address and every place where he carries on business in stores property.

(k) The books and records kept by each licensee of the articles described in Section 1(a) above, shall be open for inspection by the chief of police or by any officer of the police department of the city at all times and the licensee and his agents and employees shall at all times exhibit the book to such officers on request.

(l) Each licensee under this ordinance purchasing or trading gold or silver in any form set out in Section 1(a) hereof shall attach to or place on each such article purchased a tag or other identifying mark or label numbered to correspond with the serial number of the book required by Section 1(i) to be kept; except where small articles are bought in bulk and are too numerous to conveniently tag or mark, an identifying number shall be placed on the container or wrapper in which the articles are kept or placed and the chief of police shall be notified prior to purchasing such bulk items, or any item altered from its original form.

(m) The property of the kind described in Section 1(a) of this ordinance shall be held in the same form, shape or condition in which they are purchased, without mutilation, melting, reduction to block or lump form, or destruction of the form thereof, for a period of five (5) days after the hour when the licensee reports the purchase to the chief of police, during which time said article or articles shall be open to inspection or examination by the chief of police, or such officer or officers of the police department as may be delegated to make such examinations or inspections.

(n) The word "applicant" when used herein shall include the plural where applicable, and all agents, officers, servants or employees of the applicant in the City of Waveland, if the applicant is other than a sole proprietor.

(o) The provisions of this ordinance shall be binding upon every employee or agent of the buyer of the articles described in Section 1(a) hereof, and it shall be unlawful and an offense against the city for any such licensee or his agents, servants, officers or employees to fail or refuse to carry out the provisions of this ordinance. Any person who shall violate any provision of this ordinance or do business within the city, as defined in this ordinance, without first obtaining a permit or license as provided herein shall be subject to fine in an amount not to exceed $500.00 or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court trying the case.

(p) If any section, sentence, paragraph, clause, phrase or word of this ordinance is for any reason held or declared to be unconstitutional, inoperative or void, such holding or invalidity shall not effect the remaining portions of this ordinance, and it shall be construed to have been the intent of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Waveland to pass this ordinance without such unconstitutional, invalid, or inoperative part therein, and the remainder of this ordinance shall be deemed and held to be valid as if such parts had not been included therein.

SECTION 2. That for good cause shown and the public interest requiring it, this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, but shall nevertheless be published as required by law and recorded in the City Ordinance Book.

The foregoing Ordinance was introduced in writing and read section by section and then as a whole, as provided by law.

Yarborough moved the adoption of the Ordinance, section by section and then as a whole, which motion was seconded by Toomey, and upon being put to a vote the results were as follows:

Those voting Aye all
Those voting Nay none

WHEREUPON the Mayor declared the motion carried and the Ordinance adopted and directed its publication and enrollment as provided by law.

LUE, like you'll like about JITNEY!

WE GLADLY ACCEPT FOOD STAMPS!

TOP BANANA.

And we guarantee it.

When you choose produce, demand the very best. Sometimes a cheaper price means cheaper quality—undersize avocados, limp heads of lettuce, smaller grapes that are less plump, sweet and juicy. And that's no bargain.

But the quality is never cheap at Jitney. It's always up to our high standards...and yours. "The highest possible quality at the lowest possible price." That's how we define excellent value in fresh produce.
